

Camping In Indy

Did you know that 80% of RVs are produced in Indiana? With a high focus on RV production, it's no surprise that Indiana boasts many RV and camping options for visitors. For a full list of all RV Parks in the state of Indiana, please visit: Visit Indiana's Guide to RV Parks.

Indy is a fantastic place to connect with nature in many ways. Here are some of the best places that accept guests for camping in Indy.

Lake Haven Retreat

Located just minutes from several favorite Indianapolis attractions, Lake Haven is a great option if you're visiting for the museums, sports venues, racing, golf or beautiful outdoor spaces. Lake Haven is a quick drive to all of these favorites. Daily, weekly and monthly rates accommodate the quick trip guest and the long-term visitor. Campers can expect to find 110 full hook-up camp sites as well as primitive tent camping.

Indy Lakes & RV Campground

Indy Lakes Campground is conveniently located near major Indianapolis highways and freeways and just a short drive to all major Indianapolis cultural attractions, entertainment venues, sports, racing and outdoor activities. Indy Lakes offers rental of their furnished lake house and lodge, primitive camping with amenities and full service big-rig RV lots.

Campground at the Indiana State Fairgrounds

The Indiana State Fairgrounds and Event Center offers year-round camping on-site. This central location put you smack dab in the middle of Indianapolis, near Broad Ripple and downtown Indianapolis. 140 campsites are available with seasonal full hook-up available and primitive options for tent camping.

Indianapolis KOA

The Indianapolis KOA is located just outside of Indianapolis in Greenfield. Located just 20 minutes from downtown Indy, you'll have easy highway access to all major attractions and sporting venues. This popular campground is just minutes from Indianapolis' east side restaurants and parks. KOA Campgrounds have always been popular with families and others because of their recreational offerings and wonderful amenities including Wi-Fi connectivity, seasonal swimming pool, dog park, bike rentals, pancake breakfasts and a full schedule of planned activities.

Raceview Family Campground

Raceview Family Campground is a special events campground that operates during racing events at the Lucas Oil Raceway and Indianapolis Motor Speedway. Located seven miles from IMS and a quick walk to the gates at Lucas Oil Raceway, this is a hot spot for race fans to congregate. Raceview Family Campground has 265 RV electric sites (30 AMP and 50 AMP), approximately 400 primitive sites, modern restrooms, showers, a lighted camping area, RV sanitary station and several fresh water fill stations.

Sleepy Bear Campground

This private campground just outside of Indianapolis is popular for campers who are attending concerts across the street at the Ruoff Music Center. With convenient access to the highway, you can be in downtown Indy or Broad Ripple in just 25 minutes. Campsites at Sleep Bear are not assigned, instead they are available as guests arrive. There are no hookups or utilities, but guests are welcome to bring their own generator. Charging stations are available and there's a nightly bonfire.

Visit Indiana's Indiana State Nature Passport

"Indiana is blessed with unique places and remarkable natural features. From state parks to forests and lakes, this passport includes almost 60 outdoor locations to explore. It's free to sign up. All you need to do is check in to one of the passport locations, and you are on your way to earning prizes. The more you visit, the more you win. After checking in to 10 properties, participants will receive a pair of sunglasses.

People who make 25 visits to any of the passport locations will earn a water bottle, and after 40 visits, participants will receive a hat. Check-in to all 59 properties on the passport to earn a backpack. You can also qualify for a grand prize giveaway and specific drawings throughout the year. This program is 100% free, but property entrance fees apply when you visit. All prizes are while supplies last."

For more information on Visit Indiana's State Nature Passport, please visit
<https://visitindiana.com/explore>